

UIAA MOUNTAIN PROTECTION AWARD

2022 APPLICATION GUIDELINES

This document summarizes the process as well as all criteria for eligibility to submit a project for the UIAA Mountain Protection Award (MPA) and be in the running to become the winner of this edition's prize. Thanks to the partnership with Bally Peak Outlook Foundation (BPOF) the overall prize money is EUR 15'000 and will be awarded to the winner (EUR 10'000), the runner-up (EUR 4'000) and the best new idea or concept initiative (EUR 1'000). The winning project benefits from exclusive content creation and communication amplification through UIAA partner BPOF, a certificate of recognition, the golden MPA logo as well as international communication on all UIAA platforms.

WHO CAN APPLY?

An applicant can be an individual or a group who identifies as one of the following:

- An association and/or alpine club (member of the UIAA);
- A not-for-profit/non-governmental organisation or volunteer community group;
- A for-profit business (e.g. tour operators, expedition agencies, etc.).

For applicants who are not an association or alpine club that is a member of the UIAA, a letter of support for the project from the UIAA member federation in the country(ies) where the project is implemented, must be submitted with the application. Participation by and/or collaboration with a local UIAA member federation in the project, is especially encouraged.

Each applicant can only submit one (1) project per edition.

NEW APPLICANTS

New applicants must meet the general eligibility profile as stated above.

PREVIOUS APPLICANTS

Previous applicants must also meet the general eligibility profile as stated above, and are welcome to re-apply with either:

- An entirely new project; or
- A project that was previously submitted as a 'new idea or concept' and that is now a fully-fledged project under implementation;
- A project that was previously submitted as being 'ongoing project', and that has since achieved a proven track-record with significant results.

Previous prize winners of the Mountain Protection Award cannot re-apply with the same project.

PROJECTS

Each submitted project must be involved in at least one of five of the following UIAA MPA categories:

- Conservation of biodiversity and ecosystems, including flora and fauna;
- Sustainable resource consumption and management, such as energy or water;
- Sustainable waste management and disposal;
- Climate change adaptation and/or mitigation; or
- Culture, local traditions and education.

Furthermore, projects are assessed according to their stage of development. A project can fall under one of the following categories:

- A new idea or concept;
- An ongoing project (under implementation);
- An implemented project realised in the current or past calendar year.

While all projects, regardless of their development stage, will be reviewed by the assessment team and are eligible to be considered for the UIAA MPA platform, only on-going and finalized projects are eligible for the MPA main prize (winner).

ASSESSMENT

ASSESSMENT TEAM

The assessment team consists of UIAA Mountain Protection Commission delegates and external experts. Each project is reviewed by up to three members of the assessment team: two UIAA Mountain Protection Commission delegates (Assessor A and B) and one external expert (Assessor C).

PROCESS

First, each submitted application is checked by the UIAA Office for completeness. Incomplete applications will not be processed for review. Validated projects are then forwarded to the assessment team for review.

Each project is reviewed and scored by at least two members of the assessment team, as defined above, for each of the following criteria:

- addresses at least one of the five UIAA MPA categories (yes/no)
- has a climbing, mountaineering or outdoor sport focus (yes/no)
- clearly demonstrates and follows a vision and states project goals (score)
- clearly outlines expected outcomes and follows an implementation plan (score)
- contributes to mountain protection and its people (score)
- clearly outlines human and financial resources, including in-kind contributions, source of funding and allocation(score)
- provides verifiable supporting evidence of project implementation (except for a project considered under 'new idea or concept', which supplies information on expected project implementation timeline, resources, and budget) and referees (score).

Scores for each individual category can vary from zero (0) to five (5). The criteria scale marking is as follows:

- 0 = no evidence of involvement/effort
- 1 = not sufficient information or enough details to make a judgement
- 2 = sufficient information provided, but only partially meets the criteria
- 3 = good information provided and generally meets the criteria
- 4 = very good information and details provided and fully meets the criteria
- 5 = excellent work/involvement/effort provided

An overall score for the project is calculated by taking the average score of the assessors (i.e. total scores of Assessor A + total scores of Assessor B + total scores of Assessor C) / 3 = overall project score)

This combined score given to each project highlights its overall performance and can vary from zero (0) to twenty-five (25).

It is the goal of the assessment team to have three team members assess every project. However, in the unlikely situation (e.g. illness, resourcing, etc) that only two team members can assess a given project the point spread in each of their assessed categories will be examined. If the two assessors' scores differ by more than three points in a given category (e.g. Assessor A scores category (a) with a 1, while Assessor B scores category (a) with a 5 → difference of 5 - 1 = 4) a third assessor, part of the assessment team, will be brought in to evaluate the full project. The average score of all three assessors will give the overall score for the given project.

RECOGNITION AND PRIZE

All projects that are complete, eligible, and have a minimum score of ten (10) are showcased on the UIAA website and receive the right to use the UIAA MPA logo in black.

All reviewed projects are ranked according to the overall score given, providing the basis for allocating acknowledgement and prize eligibility. The UIAA Mountain Protection Commission convenes in a final review, taking into account recommendations and comments by the assessment team and decides on the following:

- MPA Winner
- MPA Runner-Up
- MPA Best New Initiative

The UIAA Mountain Protection Commission, via its President, notifies the assessment team as well as the UIAA President of its final decision.

The winning project is announced at the UIAA General Assembly and receives a cash prize of EUR 10'000, a UIAA MPA trophy, the right to use the UIAA MPA logo in gold, a certificate of recognition and will be featured in a dedicated UIAA news article. Exclusive content creation of the winning project will be coordinated with UIAA partner BPOF and amplified through their worldwide channels. The winner will be asked to write and share a progress report within the next year and a final report upon completion of the project and submit this to the UIAA Mountain Protection Commission.

The runner-up to the winning project is announced at the UIAA General Assembly and receives a cash prize of EUR 4'000, the right to use the UIAA MPA logo in silver, a certificate of recognition and will be featured in a dedicated UIAA news article.

The highest-scoring project under the "new idea or concept" category is deemed the year's UIAA MPA Best New Initiative and receives EUR 1'000, the right to use a dedicated UIAA MPA logo in black, a certificate of recognition and will be featured in a dedicated UIAA news article.
